Description

Rare chance to secure a centrally located piece of land at an accessible price point. The site provides practical access to nearby amenities and transport links, making it a sensible option for a small builder or buyer looking for a straightforward project. The land is being sold as-is and reflects strong value for those willing to do their own due diligence. Ideal for someone seeking a well-located plot without the premium pricing often associated with central locations. Opportunities like this don’t come up often at this level — suited to buyers looking to secure a solid deal rather than a polished package.
