Description

Welcome to the heart of this home which is the SCREENED POOL—perfect for enjoying sunny afternoons and colorful Southwest Florida sunsets! This home is loaded with incredible upgrades that brilliantly function better than most houses built. Starting with multiple porches, one in the front AND the rear. The rear property has an EXTENDED porch attached which is perfect for entertaining parties or making your own private oasis whether it be working out in the shade, reading, or guests visiting and / or enjoying the awesome pool. Wait, there’s more…a HALF BATH with a dual purpose that can function like a POOL BATH when needed while connecting to an additional FOURTH BEDROOM that can be used as a private home office, den, guest suite, or hobby room. This is one of the best designed homes on the market that functions well above all the standard homes in the area. UPDATED ROOF + SOLAR PANELS--enjoy the benefit of a solar system already installed, with the existing solar loan potentially assumable by the buyer. Ask for details and enjoy the potential for long term savings for many years to come. This home truly exceeds typical expectations in what is seen today. Neutral colors with warm coral accent colors and personalized artwork to create your own collage of photos in your family tree, this home offers character and warmth that is welcoming, inviting, and comforting for all. Additionally, there is an INVISIBLE FENCE to protect your furry family members and a THREE PANEL MULTI-SLIDE DOORS to open up and enjoy those beautiful breezy cooler days. The laundry room is located inside the home (not in the garage). This home is the best choice with how it was built and made to live. You know the saying, they don’t make them like they used to? This rings true for this home. Not too many of this type of home exists on the market today. Must be seen to be appreciated. All the amenities mentioned as well as being in a quiet neighborhood, yet still close to major thorough ways for quick everyday errands at Publix, the SWFL International airport, or beaches. This home truly offers more than meets the eye, especially when living the Southwest Florida lifestyle you’ll want to call home!
