Description

Watch birds visit the garden from your covered, screened front patio. Nearly 40 species of native and Florida-friendly plants give this Southeast Cape Coral home a front yard with something to discover. Flowers draw pollinators, while fruit and seeds feed visiting birds. Layers of grasses, shrubs, ground covers, and small trees add color, fragrance, and privacy from the street. Drip irrigation supports the established landscape. Inside, this three-bedroom, two-bath home features high ceilings, natural light, and an open layout that connects the living room, dining area, and kitchen. White cabinetry, generous counter space, and a breakfast bar make the kitchen practical for everyday use. Tile runs through the main living areas, and an interior laundry room and attached two-car garage add convenience. The home offers four walk-in closets, including two in the primary suite, plus several additional storage closets throughout the house. The split-bedroom layout gives the primary suite added privacy, and sliding doors open directly to the rear screened lanai. Two additional bedrooms offer space for guests, work, or hobbies. The spacious rear screened lanai features a bar and plenty of room for dining and lounging, with direct access to the guest bathroom from the patio. Beyond the lanai, a fenced yard framed by mature landscaping adds another layer of privacy. Set in Southeast Cape Coral’s Caloosahatchee neighborhood, the home is near South Cape dining and shopping and Four Mile Cove Ecological Preserve. Start the day birdwatching with coffee on the front patio and end it with dinner on the rear lanai.
