Description

Steeped in rich history and timeless allure, this extraordinary private island was once home to the ancient Calusa Indians and later the flourishing pineapple plantation of Captain Horr. Today, this exclusive 543-acre gated enclave, featuring nearly 135 homesites, is emerging as one of Southwest Florida’s most coveted destinations for luxury waterfront estates. This exceptional vacant homesite offers the perfect canvas for a magnificent custom residence, where each morning begins with breathtaking sunrises and the tranquility of island living. Residents enjoy a lifestyle defined by natural beauty and refined amenities, including scenic walking and biking paths, winding paved roads, boat slips, marina parking, a community clubhouse, and tennis courts—all within a pet-friendly setting. Ideally located just moments from beaches, dining, boutique shopping, and the esteemed Marco Island Academy, this is a rare opportunity to create a legacy property in a setting unlike any other.
